What is a generator enclosure?

Components are housed on top of a sturdy base with the generator enclosure encasing the wiring, cables, generator and components in marine-grade aluminum that is durable and corrosion-resistant. Generator enclosures keep your components and diesel generators secure by providing a barrier from critical systems.

Why do you need an aluminum generator enclosure?

Keep the components of your diesel generator free of debris and moisture with an aluminum generator enclosure will keep it at peak operating performance. Components are housed on top of a sturdy base with the generator enclosure encasing the wiring, cables, generator and components in marine-grade aluminum that is durable and corrosion-resistant.
