Does South Africa have a battery storage tender programme?

South Africa is aiming to procure utility-scale battery storage with two tender programmes: its Battery Storage IPP Procurement Programme as well as hybrid battery storage and variable renewables projects through its Risk Mitigation IPP Procurement Programme.

What is a battery energy storage IPP tender?

In November 2023, South Africa announced preferred bidders for the first Battery Energy Storage IPP Procurement Programme tender, which - if all implemented in full - would add 360 MW of dispatchable battery storage capacity to the national grid, and are now expected to enter into power purchase agreements (PPAs) negotiations with Eskom.

What is a battery storage tender?

The first battery storage tender, initiated by Eskom, marked the beginning of a new era in South Africa's energy sector. This tender was a part of the Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) project, which aims to integrate renewable energy sources into the national grid.

What is the DMRE battery storage tender?

The third and most recent battery storage tender was launched by the DMRE in August 2023. This tender is part of South Africa's broader strategy to transition to a more sustainable energy future. The tender aims to add another 1,230 MW of battery energy storage capacity to the national grid.
